

MARKET WATCH

Market Performance

The Amman Stock Exchange continued to rally this week, rising consistently during the first three days of trading, with the General Index penetrating the 2,900 point level on Monday for the first time since December 18th 2008 and registering a new high for 2009 of 2,968.8 points on Tuesday. On Wednesday, however, affected by the drops in global and regional markets, the General Index fell by 1.3%, only to rise again on Thursday, thereby ending the week up by 4.2% and registering a year-to-date increase of 7.1%.

Demand for strategic stocks was the main driver of the rising Index, particularly in terms of the Jordan Phosphate Mines and Arab Potash Company, whose prices rose by 19.06% and 16.60% respectively compared to last week. Trading was buoyant and liquidity was high, with the average trading value rising by 34.1% to JD 61.16 million. The concentration of trading on the pricier strategic stocks led the average trading volume to drop, albeit by a minor 0.7%.

The Services Sector stocks dominated our list of most active stocks in terms of volume traded, while the market blue-chips repossessed the bulk of the top positions in our list of most active stocks in terms of value traded.

The number of companies that ended the week in the green outnumbered those in the red at 97 companies to 83 of a total of 203 companies whose shares were traded this week. Market capitalisation also rose, driven by the rise in prices of the heavyweights, to reach JD 26.78 billion, pulling up the market P/E to 18.08 times.

Sector Performance

The Services Sector claimed the bulk of the trading volume this week with 98.52 million shares traded, followed by the Industrial Sector with 25.17 million shares, and finally the Insurance and Banking Sectors with 6.59 million and 3.79 million shares, respectively.

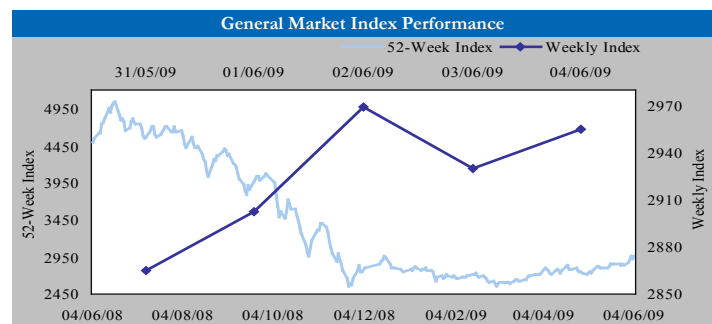

In terms of value traded, again the Services Sector registered the highest among the four sectors with JD 150.98 million, followed by the Industrial Sector with JD 108.68 million. The Banking and Insurance sectors came in last with trading values of JD 28.74 million and JD 17.39 million respectively.

The Industrial Sector's Index rose by an impressive 15.4%, attributed to the increases in the share prices of the sector heavyweights. It was followed by the Banking Sector Index, with an increase of 1.9%, while the Services Sector Index ascended by 1.50%. Bringing in the rear was the Insurance Sector with a slight 0.4% increase in its Index for the week.
