Market Performance

This was another dark week for the Amman Stock Exchange with its General Index tumbling by 4.1% compared to the prior week's closing. With the week coinciding with the end of the month, the market saw a flurry of selling activity by investors in a bid to realise profits and close margin positions, which led the General Index to drop sharply on the first two days of trading registering a total decline of 209.4 points. On Thursday, however, the market recovered and registered an impressive 3% increase, ending the week at 2,656.7 points.
